

THURSDAY & FRIDAY,
APRIL 4 & 5, 2024

The Friday Conference Center
100 Friday Center Drive
Chapel Hill, NC 27599

The Tar Heel Boot Camp is an intense two-day education event that is designed for providers in adult critical care settings. It incorporates a multidisciplinary approach to didactic and experiential learning and will offer over ten critical care topics and several intensives to include introduction to point of care ultrasound.

Target Audience

Advanced practice providers and physicians in critical care and emergency medicine

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this competency-based activity, the participant should be able to:

- Discuss various factors which influence access to health care in the critically ill patient.
- Recognize the signs and symptoms of acute respiratory failure.
- Discuss the current literature of hydroxocobalamin and methylene blue administration in patients with distributive shock.
- Discuss principles of acute and chronic kidney injury.
- Identify conduction disorders encountered in the critically ill patient post deep or moderate sedation.
- Discuss principles of primary and secondary brain injury.
- Identify systemic and site-specific clinical manifestations of life-threatening infections, including the use of clinical laboratory tests.
- Describe the timely assessment and classification of the burn patient.
- Define veno-venous (VV) and veno-arterial (VA) extracorporeal membrane oxygenation (ECMO).
- Describe the pathophysiology of the coagulation cascade.
- Describe pathologic changes to liver physiology with chronic liver disease.
- Discuss basic POCUS principles and indications.
- Recognize clinically relevant sonographic findings of critically ill patients.
- Identify signs and symptoms of a patient with hemorrhagic shock in various critical care settings.
- Utilize case-based simulated scenarios to discuss clinical application of learned strategies.

POCUS Workshop

Four-hour interactive session led by expert faculty to guide attendees through ultrasonography using live models. Attendees who are not registered for the intensives will spend the remainder of the afternoon:

- Learning basic POCUS principles, nomenclature and probe manipulation techniques
- Identifying and obtaining images of thoracic and abdominal structures
- Discussing clinically relevant sonographic findings of critically ill patients.
- There are a limited number of seats to assure a low faculty to attendee ratio and quality high-quality interactive experience.

Intensives

50-minute interactive sessions led by expert clinicians to guide attendees through case-based simulated scenarios and/or hands on experience to improve procedural competence. Attendees who are not registered for the POCUS workshop can select one intensive per block. Each block offers up to seven different intensives. There are a limited number of seats per intensive to assure a low faculty to attendee ratio and high-quality interactive experience.

1:00	Intensives Block 1
2:00	Intensives Block 2
3:00	Intensives Block 3
4:00	Intensives Block 4

Intensives Blocks 1:00 & 2:00

- Critical Care Procedures 1: Central Venous Access
- Ventilator Management and Waveforms
- Critical Care Procedures 3: Intraosseous Vascular Access
- ECMO Emergencies
- Neurologic Emergencies and Disparities in Care
- Toxicodromes: When Too Much of a Good Thing is Bad
- The Surgical Abdomen w/wo Trauma

Intensives Blocks 3:00 & 4:00

- Critical Care Procedures 2: Bronchoscopy/Chest Tubes
- Difficult Airway and Ventilator Liberation Considerations
- When One Patient Becomes Two: Critical Care Management in Pregnancy
- Deep Dive into Acid-Base Disorders
- Palliative Care: Words and Ways that Don't Work
- Hem-Onc Emergencies: Chimeric Antigen Receptor T-Cell Therapy
- Clinical Correlation Required: An Overview of Chest Imaging
