Bedside Emergency Management: Best Practices for the Medical-Surgical Nurse

TWO-DAY VIRTUAL EDUCATIONAL EVENT!

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 2023

Zoom Registration 7:50 a.m.

Program 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 2023

Zoom Registration 7:50 a.m.

Program 8:00 a.m. to 11:45 a.m.

Day One of the conference will focus on best practices for nursing management of complex conditions encountered in the medical-surgical patient population. Emphasis will be on "red flag" signs and symptoms of impending emergencies and the interventions that should follow. Essential critical thinking skills will be discussed as the foundation for improved patient outcomes and increased nursing confidence, supported by concepts from the Clinical Judgement Model currently being used in nursing education.

Day Two will begin with an exploration of the legal issues most often faced by medical surgical nurses and their implications for practice. This will be followed by an opportunity for nurses to apply content heard on Day One by sharing actual bedside emergencies they've experienced with the speaker and other participants.

This program is supported by the NC AHEC RN Refresher Award 2022-2023 and is in recognition of the many medical-surgical nurses precepting NC AHEC RN Refresher Nurses.

Target Audience

Nurses in medical-surgical specialty practice

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this educational activity, the participant should be able to:

- Briefly compare the Nursing Process and the Clinical Judgment Measurement Model (NCJMM), in terms of terminology and process.
- Recognize symptoms, (cues), of some of the most common and potentially life-threatening clinical emergencies experienced by patients on medical/ surgical units.
- After analyzing and prioritizing cues and other relevant patient data, describe the current, evidence-based actions to effectively mitigate emergency medical-surgical emergencies.
- Discuss legal issues commonly faced by medical-surgical nurses and their implications for practice.

Speaker

Pam Collins, MSN, CMSRN, MEDSURG-BC, NPD-BC has over 40 years of varied nursing experiences in a wide range of clinical settings. She has served as a preceptor, mentor and nurse educator in hospital and academic settings, as an Education and Professional Development consultant for multiple organizations and has published on various medical-surgical topics, including a medical-surgical certification textbook. She has also been in leadership positions as a nurse manager, director, and CEO. Pam's clinical expertise is primarily medical-surgical nursing, and she continues to work in an acute care setting. Her extensive knowledge and background have positioned her as an expert in the legal and ethical aspects of nursing practice. She presents locally and nationally on clinical nursing topics, leadership, education and precepting and legal/ethical issues in healthcare. She receives great reviews for her practical approach to complex clinical issues, her obvious expertise and for the humor she infuses into her presentations.
